THE GARDEN NURSERIES

OCATED on the Montgomery Pike at Narberth, the Garden Nurseries are most easily accessible by auto for anyone living on the Main Line, or in an adjacent locality.

The most enjoyable time to visit the Garden Nurseries is naturally when the flowering cherries, almonds, crab apples and plums are in full bloom. That also is a good time to purchase plants of this type, as they can be transplanted while blooming, from pots.

Our passenger station is Narberth, on the Main Line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. As it is an eight-block walk, anyone wishing to save time or carry away any small plants, should take one of the taxicabs standing at the station.

The Garden Nurseries are open the year 'round to visitors. They contain the greatest variety of oriental flowering trees grown commercially in America.

JAPANESE ROSE FLOWERING CHERRIES

A MONG men, the samurai; among flowers, the sakura," is a familiar saying, which well expresses the patriotic pride with which this gay, flashy flower is regarded in Japan. The sentiment is also conveyed in the following lines by one of the national poets:

"Shikishima no Yamato gokoro wo Hitotowaba Asahi ni niwou Yamazakura bana."

"Should you ask me what is the true patriotic spirit, I answer: it is the scent of the mountain cherry tree in the morning air."

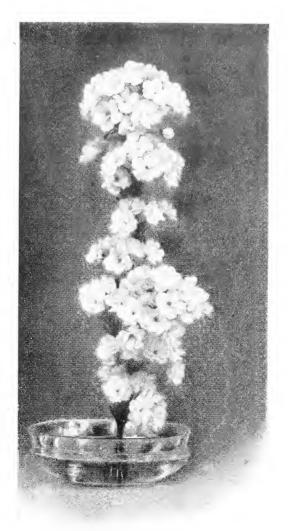

Japan has had its wild cherry since the memory of man, though today it is found in abundance only in the woods of the Northern Island, Yeddo, where the Aino aborigines use its bark for many purposes. So far as the records show, however, it was not until the time of Richiu, Emperor of the Fifth Century, that it received royal notice. And it was a later Emperor, Shomu, of the eighth century who immortalized it in a verse to his favorite consort, Komio Kogo:

"This gathered cherry branch can scarce convey
A fancy of the blossom-laden tree,
Blooming in sunlight; could I show it thee,
Thoughts of its beauty would drive sleep away."

To satisfy the curiosity of the ladies of his court, the Emperor ordered cherry trees to be planted near the Palace at Nara, and afterwards the custom was continued at each succeeding capital. In and near the modern capital, Tokyo, are several spots renowned for their show of cherry trees, originally brought from Yoshino, and from the banks of the Sakura river in the province of Hitachi. Cherry viewing became a popular amusement in Yeddo towards the latter half of the seventeenth century. All classes of the people, from the two-sworded samurai to the small tradesmen and menials, participated in the enjoyment. The green sward beneath the cherry trees was crowded with merry picnic parties of all classes, screened off with low colored curtains. One favorite resort, called Asukayama, at Oji, is often spoken of as the new Yoshino. It is a high, grassy bluff, overlooking an extensive plain on one side, and sloping down to the village on the other. The eminence forms a park of cherry trees extending down the precipitous sides of the bank, so that the pedestrian sees the pinky white blossoms against the blue sky above him, and below the pearly gray of the blossoms in the shadows of the cliff.

(1) OJOCHIN-ZAKURA. "Paper Lantern." Means big lantern. Zakura means cherry. Should bloom light colors, big and double. (Large, white, semi-double, prolific). Very symmetrical growth.

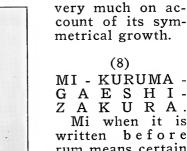

- (2) KO-FUGEN-ZAKURA. "Pink Saint" is the Cherry shown in the second decoration. Its full name is Ko-Fugenzo. Ko means pink. Fugenzo means saint's appearance. It should bloom pink, big double flowers. Very striking; by many thought the best of all. We sell more of this variety than any other.
- (4). AMA-NO-GAWA-ZAKURA. Means "River of Heaven." (Milky Way). Upright like poplar. Should bloom double pink. (Most desirable variety, new; grows like a lombardy poplar, a splendid show in the Spring). Effective as formal tree. Blush pink, fragrant, very choice. First decoration pictures this sort.

(7) HI-ZAKURA. Flowers are the same type as the picture shown on this page, but much deeper in color. Its full name is Kan Hi-zakura. Kan means cold. Hi-zakura means deep pink cherry. It blooms in early part of year while weather is still cold. (A very vigorous growing, upright variety. The buds are crimson; the flowers are red, fading into old rose. A most unusual color in Flowering Cherries—very rare and desirable).

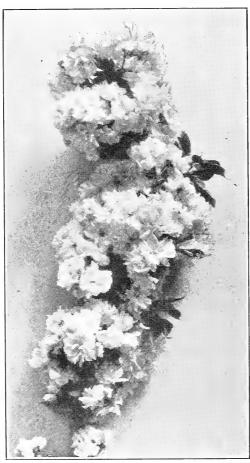

This is a vigorous growing variety and the earliest of the dark red Japanese Cherries, as the name indicates. In Japan, it is the most popular of the rose-colored vari-

Mi when it is written before rum means certain respect. Kuruma means wheel, car or Riksha. Gaeshi means turn back, so it must mean that the flower is so beautiful that people cannot help to turn back to look at it again. (Semi-double brilliant pink flowers of medium size). Very prolific.

Chinese Flowering Crab "Grafts"

N order to afford an opportunity for all to get a collection of my beautiful Chinese Flowering Crabapples at a nominal price, I have decided to offer this year young "grafts"; that is, freshly grafted trees with roots and all complete ready to plant, in collections of 4 and 10 sorts. Do not let this chance slip by if you want any of the trees for a try-out, as I may not again present this offer. I do it now only as an experiment to learn how the public will accept the idea.

The young "grafts" may be planted in beds, in the vegetable garden or in the flower beds, anywhere; the soil packed about the root and left alone; nature does the rest. Only, watch that poultry, dogs or children do not hurt the tender shoots. Permit only one or two sprouts to grow from the scion or top, and none from the root, as these would be suckers or "wild." Two years later the trees may be planted in the permanent location.

Four young trees may be had at $1.50, or ten trees for $3.00 postpaid. You may select the varieties, or I will do it for you. I will send you the sorts that, in my judgment, are best, although from the point of view of some authorities they may all be equally valuable.

Malus Atropurpurea—Red flowers; vigorous habit; flowers are of good size and color.

- "Baccata—Single. pink buds, opening white The most fragant variety of all crabs in cultivation. A fine fruit for fragrant jelly. This sort does not bloom profusely before the tree is at least five years old, but then makes up for lost time.
- " Baccata (Tsen Mei)—Very fragrant like the above type, but the flowers are larger and more beautiful. The fragrant fruit makes fine jelly.
- "Bechtels (Pocahontas)—The flowers are a most delightfully soft pink and very large. It is the latest to bloom, and dwarf in habit. Very fragrant.
- " Coronarius—Single pink flowers; fragrant; tall growing.

- Malus Floribunda (Fung Shing)—Single, pink flowers; spreading habit; prolific flowering; large crop of small fruit.
 - "Atrosanguinea (Ming Shing)—Brilliant red, the most showy of the Crabs. This in my judgment is easily the most showy of the early flowering Crab. It is not fragrant, but the small single flowers are so abundant that they clothe the naked branches absolutely and the show is not obscured by foliage. A most attractive specimen tree on a lawn. Blooms the first year after planting.
 - " Nietzwetzkyana—Red flowers, leaves, bark, sap, and all. Very showy; rather vigorous; open habit.
 - " Parkmanii—Semi-double, rose, rather dwarf in habit, but one of the most beautiful and desirable.
 - " Scheideckerii—Double pink. A very prolific flowering sort; large double deep rose flowers, crimson buds, flowers in bottle brush formation.
 - " Wah Mee—Brilliant double apple blossoms and abundant fruit for jelly.

The fruits of all the varieties make superior jelly. Wash the fruit, remove the stems and boil the entire fruit in usual way.

4 Trees for $1.50; 10 Trees for $3.00. Postpaid.

We also have 500 Malus Sargentii to offer, 15 to 24 inches high, at 75 cents each. This is a beautiful dwarf spreading bush suitable for small gardens, formal gardens and rockeries.

in a cluster. Cheerful, soft pink, offering a very striking contrast to the majority of the Japanese Cherries. It appears to be, when in bloom, the most popular of all the varieties, coming, as it does frequently, ahead of the other varieties, it has but little competition at that time, and this, may in part, account for its popularity. Speciments of this sort should be in every collection.

(11). SHIDARE - HIGAN - ZAKURA. "Weeping Cherry." (Cerasus). Prunus. Subhirtella Pendula. Shidare means branches bent downward something like willow. Higan means when day and night are the same length in Springtime, so it should bloom when day and night are same length. (Deep pink, single, early, weeping; one of the most prolific varieties). Earliest of all.

The Weeping Cherry is without question the most attractive weeping tree known to horticulturists. It is in habit something like the Weeping Beech. The foliage is as good as any of the well known weeping trees, Birch, Beech or Willow, and in addition to that the bright flowers cover the tree by the thousands; in large trees they number hundreds of thousands, making a gorgeous mass of pink, impossible to reproduce in colored print, but fairly well shown on the cover of this book.

In the old temple grove, now a public park, at Uyeno, there are a number of fine trees of the single early blossoming kind, Higan-Zakura, among which are some magnificent specimens of the weeping cherry. This latter species has pendant branches, drooping like the willow, and bears single pink flowers, but rarely fruit; and in this respect it is an exception to the general rule, that the trees of single blossom bear fruit whilst those of double blossom are fruitless.

(14). SEKIZAN - ZAKURA. "Sacred Gate." Seki means gate, such as joined one territory to another at olden times of Japan. Zan means mountain. It was operated something like a toll gate is in this country, but not to collect money, but to keep out undesirables. It should bear deep pink big double flowers. A vigorous grower.

The flower in appearance is very similar to Hi-Zakura. The one distinct difference is two green carpels in the center of the flower, which it also shares with our No. 2. The buds are very dark crimson, opening up deep rose. It is a very scarce variety.

Our descriptions are credited largely to a Japanese catalogue, and the translations by a Japanese resident of Philadelphia.

DOUBLE FLOWERING CHINESE CRAB APPLES

ING SHING. Stars of Heaven. For landscape effect this variety (Fung Shing and Wah Mee) is possibly the ultimate. Ming Shing, translated the Stars of Heaven (by Lady Tsen Mei), is the most striking in general effect; the tree or bush is of irregular growth, though of a very vigorous habit when young. Every branch is literally covered by the crimson or red flowers; not a leaf in sight when the crimson buds appear, they unfold as a red, a gorgeous velvety red, and when the sun shines through the branches almost a scarlet is suggested—a very unusual effect—very Oriental in its regal splendor.

As the tree grows older it becomes more irregular in its habit of growth, but very little is gained by pruning, save in the first few years. Ming Shing should be in every garden, and I am sure we shall be many years older before I can produce enough to meet the demand.

TSEN MEI. Spring Perfume. The wild form is quite abundant over the Chinese hills, filling the air with its delightful fragrance; the cultivated varieties are somewhat improved in form, but retain every breath of the delightful perfume of the original wild crab of China. The buds are red, the flowers white, in great umbels or clusters; individual flowers single, the snowy whiteness being very striking, and when the tree is in bloom a very charming sight. Once you have been within reach of Tsen Mei's charm the perfume exhaled will keep you spellbound for years and the memory never leave you.

Some forms will show a slight flush of color over the otherwise virgin white of the petals; most plants produce white bloom. The fruit is as large as a small plum, highly colored and fragrant. (Makes splendid jelly). Buds are pink or red.

WAH MEE. The Modest Maiden. Malus Scheideckerii. A wonderfully prolific small tree, in spring covered with a delightful mass of double flowers of a deep rose color. The habit of the tree is very branching, and the branches are ascending, somewhat perpendicular and covered with the charming flowers it lends itself particularly to use as cut bloom with no disadvantage to the tree, as it seems to be benefited by pruning while in bloom. Ping Fah and Wah Mee are both producers of an abundance of cherry-like fruit, yellow, red and orange, that makes the famous Chinese apple jelly so famed for its pleasing odor and flavor.

POCAHONTAS. Pvrus iœnsis. Bechtel's variety. is a Native American apple, a double form of our wild The flowers crab. are a most delightfully soft pink and very large. As the picture indicates, the buds are perfectly globular, the flowers very full and in size quite a little larger than a silver dollar. illustration shows a trifle less than half life size. It is the latest to bloom in our collection, and the tree is in full leaf while in bloom while the Chinese varieties display their gorgeous flowers on bare stems utterly void of foliage, and are for this reason more effective in the decorative scheme on the lawn. Many of our friends like this sort best, I think, for the reason that "Pocahontas" has no competition while in bloom—all the rest have passed several weeks earlier. Our native variety is also very fragrant, a delicate perfume of great charm, but not as distinguished as our Tsen Mei, which stands without a peer as the most fragrant flower of the spring garden.

As this is written while vegetation is still dormant the writer would say to all nurserymen and florists who expect to have trees to sell to lay in a stock of Bechtel's which it might be compared. There are many small trees and bushes belonging to the rosaceous order, as this does, having flowers of like color and which are highly esteemed, but in the whole collection not one with the foliage and habit of this tree, and with such handsome double pink flowers.

When allowed to grow at will, starting in a good shape at first, Bechtel's double flowering Crab forms a well shaped, large bush, hardly a small tree, and it maintains this habit through life. Considering its great merit it is not as often seen as it deserves.—Florists' Exchange. April 7, 1917.

MALUS SARGENTI - Sargent's Flowering Crab. Dwarf spreading grower; flowers pure white; colored fruits; suitable for rockeries. 2 years—$2.00 Each.

PING FAH. Abundance of Joy. The flower in bud is coral red, opening to a full-blown gorgeous soft pink. The flowers are very large and come in such abundance as to envelop all the branches with the bright pink brilliant double blooms about the size of a 50-cent piece. The fruit is abundant and splendid for jelly, superior to the usual crab apple jelly.

GUI TOI. Dragon's Tears. This variety is, from point of grace, the most pleasing of all our Chinese flowering crab apples. The flowers are disposed on thin, red, wire-like stems that permit the semi-double, rose-colored flowers to droop most gracefully. The gathered branches are, even in the hand of the unskilled decorator, the most effective subject our spring season affords for indoor embellishment. The Chinese Dragon is the embodiment of all the good spirits and forces in nature. Very properly have the Chinese named this wonderful flower for the Dragon's Tears.

The charm is not confined to the cut flowers for when this small tree is clothed in its rosy robe it is easily the most cherished subject in the garden.

A few old plants of this variety are found in and about Philadelphia; one very noted tree is on Corker Hill, in Merion, Pa. Usually this Gui Toi is noted as a charming bush about four feet to six feet high at the most, but on the Weaver estate a plant has reached in fifty years the height of 16 feet.

FUNG SHING. Smile of a Star. Fung Shing opens out at nearly the same shade of pink as Ming Shing displays when full blown; the two varieties are very similar in habit of growth and blooming. Fung Shing is red in bud, opening a delightful pink, and after a display of bloom prolonged over three weeks, the petals fall and cover the lawn with a blanket of silvery pink.

O those who have had the first view of a well developed tree of this kind in full bloom, it appears that nothing more beautiful could possibly be found, and the most peculiar thing, from our point of view, is that, no matter what sort of color our client has first discovered, it seems that nothing short of that very particular shade will satisfy them. The fact is, that all of these colors are equally beautiful, but the person who has seen only one of them cannot believe it possible that anything could surpass the one first discovered, and, therefore, they will take no chance with anything different. The rose-like flowers cover practically every twig and branch of the tree, and range in color from purest snow white to soft pink, rose and red. The White Double Flowering Peach is particularly charming, as it is possibly the purest white seen in any flower.

CHINESE AND JAPANESE WISTARIA

WHITE AND PURPLE

HINESE WISTARIA. Few plants are more attractive for pergola, porch trellis or gateway than the wistaria with its hanging cones of purple or white. While the purple adds a touch of color all its own, the white is the more fragrant and makes a fine display.

JAPANESE WISTARIA (Multijuga). This has the same general appearance as the Chinese, but the clusters are much longer, with individual flowers farther apart. It comes in purple and white. Priced as the Chinese.

JAPAN JUDAS TREE, or "Red Bud," an ornamental dwarf bush, very similar to our native tree, more compact and free blooming very early in spring.

EUONIMUS VEGETA (Evergreen Bittersweet). The best hardy evergreen vine known, imported from Japan. More hardy than English Ivy. Just as green in winter, and in addition is covered with scarlet fruit that persists all winter.

BEARDED IRIS

THERE are from one hundred and fifty to two hundred varieties of Iris in cultivation. Many of them are inferior; others are practically duplicates of some equally as good; therefore we have limited our list to nineteen varieties—all of distinct merit. We do not particularly recommend any of these named sorts, as they are all of about equal value. True enough, some of them cost more than others, and the prices may be somewhat of a guide to the decorative value of the varieties. At least, the higher priced varieties are the newer or scarcer varieties. These new and improved Iris are fully equal to the orchid in beauty, even if they are more perishable.

Explanation: "F" signifies "falls" or drooping petals, and "S," "standards" or upright petals. A plant has one spike; a clump has from three to five spikes.

- FAIRY—White, delicately bordered and suffused soft blue. Plant, 25 cents; Clump, 50 cents.
- FLORENTINA—Syn. Silver King. Creamy white, finely flushed lavender. The flowers are quite fragrant and are produced early in the season. Fine for cutting. Plant, 25 cents; Clump, 50 cents.
- FRO—S, deep gold; F, brilliant chestnut-brown. Plant, 50 cents; Clump, $1.00.
- HALFDAN—Creamy white. Large flowers of good substance. Plant, 50 cents; Clump, $1.00.
- IRIS KING—S, clear lemon-yellow; F, rich maroon, bordered yellow. Large flowers, brilliant. Plant, 50 cents; Clump, $1.00.
- JUNIATA—S and F, clean blue, deeper than Dalmatica. Tallest of the bearded Iris. Large, fragrant flowers. Plant, 50 cents; Clump, $1.00.
- KOCHII—S and F, rich claret-purple. Very desirable. Plant, 25 cents; Clump, 50 cents.
- LOHENGRIN-S and F, uniform soft shade of cattleya rose. Large. Plant, 50 cents; Clump, $1.00.

JAPANESE PEONIES

- JAPANESE PEONIES in large assortment, fragrant, of good size, but not generally large, particularly noted for the exquisite form and coloring, as a decorative note arranged singly or at most three to a vase, they are easily the most artistic of all the peonies. 3 to 5-eye divisions, $1.50 each; $12.00 per dozen.
- THE BEST PLANTING SEASON is September to December. The plant should be placed so that not over three inches of soil cover the topmost buds; no fresh manure may be used—only well rotted material; if this is not available, use bone meal and a fresh manure top dressing; fresh cow or sheep manure may be used under the plant, if not in contact with the roots. Winter protection is not needed, but a good covering of cow manure should be used annually for best results.
